NEW BOSTON CEMETERY,

FOR THE YEAR ENDING FEB. 28, 1877.

Fellow Citizens :

We deem it unnecessary to make any extended report on the state of the cemetery or the work that has been consummated therein during the past year. The constantly increasing interest manifested by you is a satisfaction to us, and we are pleased to receive any suggestions from any of you towards its further convenience or improvement. Realizing we are to discharge the duties incumbent, only as servants, to accomplish what we deem for the greatest public and individual good, we wish to be retained in the position only so long as it accords with your will. We shall probably take some action at our next meeting, in regard to the occupancy of lots where parties have selected and interred without taking and paying for a deed of the same. We submit statement of interments and removals as furnished by the Superintendent, G. M. Shedd :

SCHOOL REPORT.

In making this report, we shall endeavor to present the condition of the several schools, and call your attention to such improvements as we think necessary. Twenty-four teachers have taught in town during the past year; eight males and sixteen females. Seven have taught for the first time. There have been 577 visits to the schools by parents and others. Number of visits by Superintendent, 80; by Prudential Committees, 25; seventeen of the latter were in Dist. No. 8. Forty-two scholars have attended a term each without being absent, tardy or dismissed. Districts No. 1 and 17 have not been visited during the year, for the reason that no notice of their sessions has been received. As a general thing the schools have been a success, although some of them have not been what we might wish. Districts 3, 7 and 8 should make extra exertion to get competent teachers who may be acceptable to all in the district. Perhaps the last named districts might profit by again reading and then observing the first two pages of last year's school report. Parents should be more careful about permitting scholars to be late or dismissed. This fault may be almost always attributed to the carelessness of parents. A scholar on being asked, during the past winter why he was tardy, almost invariably answered that he came as soon as he could get his breakfast. We have been much pleased to see so many parents and others present at the examinations.

SCHOOL HOUSES.

The school house in District No. 2 is not habitable, and we hope, during the coming year, means may be taken for improving it. The same might be said of districts No. 13 and 15.

No. 16 is not quite as bad, but there is a good chance for improvement there. We hope parents will remember that if they send scholars to houses that are not properly heated and ventilated, they are accountable for the results. We wish to call your attention to the fact that seven houses have no means of ventilation except by doors or windows. Hutchinson's Physiology and Hygiene, a brief school text book which I wish might be introduced into every school in town, contains the following: "Another unmistakable result of living in and breathing foul air is found in certain diseases of the lungs, especially consumption." "For many years the barracks of the British army were constructed without any regard to ventilation; and during those years the statistics showed that consumption was the cause of a very large proportion of deaths." "At last the government began to improve the condition of the buildings, giving larger space and air supply; and as a consequence, the mortality from consumption has diminished more than one-third." This is a fact that must be readily understood by all. Why do so many teachers have poor health, and so many die of consumption? If a school room is not suitably ventilated and the teacher exposes a scholar to a current of air by opening a door or window who is to blame? We think we had rather take our chances and be exposed to a draught of air, than to breath that which has been vitiated by being inhaled over and over again. We ask in the name of humanity that those districts which have houses with no means of ventilation, or are not properly ventilated, will remedy this evil.

TEXT BOOKS.

Hagar's Arithmetic has been placed in the schools in exchange for those of almost every conceivable author. We do not claim any particular merit for the book introduced, it was done for the sake of uniformity, to prevent a multiplicity of classes. We found in only one district (No. 9.) a dictionary for reference. Each prudential committee except those in districts No. 3 and 12 has been prevailed on to buy a copy of Worcester's Comprehensive Dictionary for the benefit of the several schools.

Those districts which did not choose to get them have reasons best known to themselves. We have now a uniformity of text books in all the schools.

DISTRICT NO. 1.

Union with Amherst. We have received no notice of any school, consequently cannot report.

DISTRICT NO. 2.

Alfred Campbell, Agent. Summer term. Irene S. Bodwell, teacher. This school continued 7 weeks with 7 scholars. At close, the school indicated that it had been in charge of a good teacher.

Winter term—James P. Tuttle, teacher. It is seldom that a teacher can give satisfaction by teaching in his own district. Mr. Tuttle proved an exception. We think the district could do no better than to engage him again. This school was also 7 weeks and had attending, 12 scholars. Geo. N. Codman attended both summer and winter terms without being absent, tardy or dismissed.

DISTRICT NO. 3.

J. Q. A. Caldwell, Agent. One term, (Fall.) Miss M. Frank Haseltine, teacher. Only 4 scholars attended this school, which continued 12 weeks. Until the parents in the district co-operate and think nearer alike no teacher can be successful.

DISTRICT NO. 4.

Joseph L. Lash, Agent. Summer term. Miss Addie N. Colburn, teacher. Length of the school 7 weeks. Number of scholars, 13. Clara E. Lash was neither absent, tardy nor dismissed. Nettie C. Marden was not absent one-half a day. The record of this district compares well with the best in town. We think Miss Colburn gave good satisfaction.

Winter term. Geo. H. Wilkins, teacher. This was two weeks longer and had attending one less scholar than the summer term. Charles A. Merrill and Geo. D. Marden were neither absent, tardy nor dismissed. This was the third term Mr. Wilkins has taught here, which proves conclusively that he is a good teacher. We wish he might continue three more.

DISTRICT NO. 5.

R. H. Vose, Agent. One term, (Winter.) Miss M. Jennie Harvell, teacher. Length of school 12 weeks. Number of scholars 13. The attendance was not so good as we might wish. Miss Harvell kept a good school, bringing decision into the school room backed up with a stick.

DISTRICT NO. 6.

Luke S. Lynch, Agent. Summer term. Miss Minnie L. Burnham, teacher. Nine scholars attended this school. Length of term 8 weeks. Jessie P., Annie C. and Clinton D. Butterfield, Emma and Neddie Woods were neither absent, tardy nor dismissed. The school presented a good appearance and we think was well cared for by Miss Burnham. Average attendance as good as any in town.

Winter term. Perley E. Goodhue, teacher. Length of term, 11 weeks. Number of scholars 14, which are mostly small. This was Mr. Goodhue's first school. Teacher and scholars seemed well united. We think they had a pleasant and profitable term. Isabella Jondro, Mary E. and Willard P. Woods and Fred Fuller were not absent, tardy nor dismissed.

DISTRICT NO. 7.

Hiram L. Wilson, Agent. Both Summer and Fall terms, the former nine and the latter 12 weeks, were taught by Miss Ella M. Jones; 9 scholars attended each term. There seems to be a division in this district and the same might be said of it that was applied to No. 3. Cora M. Stearns attended both terms without being absent, tardy nor dismissed. There were 5 scholars present at examination who answered questions readily.

DISTRICT NO. 8.

Deacon J. S. Edwards, Agent. Summer term, primary school. Miss Sarah L. Cochrane, teacher. The summer school was divided into 2 terms of 6 weeks each. Number of scholars 33. Lilla R. Gregg, Olive S. Marden, Hattie J. Hall, Minnie C. Johonnett, Walter S. Boyd, Charlie H. Leach and Arthur Wason were not absent, tardy nor dismissed. Miss Cochrane's continued connection with this school and popularity as a teacher are too well known to need further commendation ; this being her twelfth term. At the examination, we think the variations were carried a little to excess, still no teacher in town has worked harder or has been more popular than Miss Cochrane.

Grammar School. Miss Ellen M. Tucker, teacher. This school was in session the same as the primary, had attending 24 scholars. We think by the expression of those present at examination, that Miss Tucker gave good satisfaction. This was her sixth term in connection with this school.

Winter Term. Primary school. Miss May E. Odion, teacher. Number of scholars 31. Length of school 12 weeks. Ephie Prew, Mary A. Andrews and Ira Woodbury were not absent, tardy nor dismissed. Miss Odion is a natural teacher. The school made good progress and we wish the teacher may come back.

Grammar School. E. C. Goodwin, teacher. This school continued during the same time as the primary. Number of scholars 32. On account of incompatibility between parents and teacher, a part of the scholars were withdrawn before the close of the school.

DISTRICT NO. 9.

Almus Warren, Agent. Summer term, Miss Addie M. Shorum, teacher. Length of term, 8 weeks ; number of scholars, 11. Peter and Etta Jones, Tommie Cochrane, Mary, Emma, Lilla and Annie Warren were not absent, tardy nor dismissed. This was the teacher's first school. We think she will be a successful teacher.

Fall term. Miss Susie E. McLane, teacher. This was a short term of only six weeks. Fifteen scholars attended; although short the school made good progress. Miss McLane is a good teacher.

Winter term. Calvin C. Richards, teacher. The school continued nine weeks with twelve scholars. This was Mr. Richards's first school, which appeared well at examination. Attendance not as good as during the summer and fall terms.

DISTRICT NO. 10.

Union with Goffstown. G. E. Robbins, Agent. New Boston money expended in the fall. Teacher, Miss Lydia W. Dodge. Length of school, 9 weeks; number of scholars, 21. As this was the teacher's third term in this district and third year or 36th month she has taught, we think she has had experience. Order and scholarship good.

DISTRICT NO. 11.

A. J. Bennett, Agent. One term, (winter.) Mr. H. M. Reynolds commenced this as his first school, and it was a success. The teacher worked hard, and so far as we know gave universal satisfaction. Much interest and thoroughness was shown by the scholars at examination. Length of school, 11 weeks. Number of scholars, 14.

DISTRICT NO. 12.

Union with Francestown. David Butterfield, Agent. Summer term. Mrs. Alice M. Dane, teacher. Only two scholars attended this term, one coming from each town. Length of school, six weeks; Willie A. Patch was not absent, tardy nor dismissed.

Winter term. Miss Julia A. Manning, teacher. Length of the school, 10 weeks. We found at the commencement only one scholar, that one coming from Francestown. Before the close of the term, however, New Boston managed by sending one who did not belong in the district, to be represented. There must be blame somewhere!

DISTRICT NO. 13.

Deacon J. P. Todd, Agent. Summer term. Miss Emilie M. Colburn taught the first five weeks. The remaining four by Miss Addie N. Colburn. Number of scholars 11. We do not think it advisable to employ two teachers during the same term when it can be avoided, for the teacher, however good, must work at a disadvantage.

Winter term. Willis E. Knights, teacher. Length of school 12 weeks. Number of scholars 13. This was the teacher's first school. We think in scholarship, it ranks well with the best in town. Classes in rhetoric, analysis, algebra and history answered questions readily. We think those present were much pleased at examination.

DISTRICT NO. 14.

P. P. Bailey, Agent. Summer term. Miss Ida F. Wilkins, teacher. Only two scholars during a term of eight weeks. Fred C. Waldo was neither absent, tardy nor dismissed; except being absent one half day. Orren S. Waldo has the same record. The school was orderly and made good progress.

Winter term. Miss Nellie H. Woodbury, teacher. This school continued twelve weeks. Number of scholars eight. Arthur W. Stehells was the only scholar who was neither absent, tardy nor dismissed. Miss Woodbury is a teacher who is not afraid to work, and we think ranks with our best teachers.

DISTRICT NO. 15.

Daniel Smith, Agent. Summer and Fall terms of 10 weeks taught by the same teacher, Miss Nellie H. Woodbury. Nine scholars attended during the summer and ten during the fall. Good progress was made in all the studies. The fact that the same teacher taught three terms or 32 weeks during the year in two adjoining districts speaks for itself. Augusta M. and Sarah A. Scranton attended both summer and fall terms without being absent, tardy or dismissed. Walter E. Dustin and Frank J. Hayford attended a term each with the same record.

DISTRICT NO. 16.

John Brown, Agent. Summer term. Miss Susie E. McLane, teacher. Length of school twelve weeks. Number of scholars fifteen. Average attendance not good. A vacation of seven weeks occurred at the middle of the term. The school appeared well at the examination and we think the teacher gave good satisfaction. Winter term. Arthur Todd, teacher. This term continued twelve weeks with twenty scholars. Lena Shearer was the only scholar attending, without being absent, tardy or dismissed. Average attendance bad. The parents should try to remedy this. The school appeared well and we think good progress was made.

DISTRICT NO. 17.

Union with Weare. This district has been under the superintendency of Mr. Dearborn of Weare, a gentleman who we know takes special interest in education. We have received no notice of any school during the year. Allow us to suggest that the town either excuse the Superintendent from visiting union districts or require some of them to be more particular to give notice of their sessions.

Respectfully submitted,

C. B. STURTEVANT,

Supt. of Schools.
